ACEL announces professional development workshop series with Professor David Hopkins

David Hopkins is identified by Global Gurus as one of the Worlds Top 30 Education Professionals for 2015. David will commence his Powerful Learning Workshop tour in Sydney on 22nd February. This workshop will be exploring school improvement and how to develop teacher quality.

David is Professor Emeritus at the Institute of Education, University of London, where he also held the inaugural HSBC iNet Chair in International Leadership. David has long experience of leading school improvement programmes and interventions and is recognised as an international expert in the field.

Aasha Murthy, ACEL (Australian Council for Educational Leaders) CEO comments "David has been at the heart of changes to UK education practice and policy, and been highly influential in education reform, internationally. Most recently, he has led the transformation of primary and secondary schools in Northern Melbourne as well as elsewhere in Victoria, Australia. ACEL is excited to present this national workshop series to educational leaders across the country".

The Australian Council for Educational Leaders (ACEL) gives access to world- class empirical research along with the practical support to achieve excellence in leadership in the education sector.
